

Felippe S. Ramos, Ph.D.

International Policy | Geopolitical Risk | Government Relations

felippe.sramos@gmail.com | linkedin.com/in/felippe-ramos | felippesramos.github.io

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

International policy and geopolitical risk professional with experience advising government and multilateral stakeholders across Latin America and the Caribbean, producing forward-looking political and economic analysis, and coordinating cross-border initiatives involving governments, UN agencies, private-sector partners, and humanitarian actors. Expertise includes U.S. and Latin American foreign policy, international economic policy, trade and investment, political risk, regional integration, strategic foresight, and strategic resiliency, with particular experience assessing political and policy developments affecting cross-border economic activity and international engagement. Ph.D. from The New School for Social Research. Fluent in Portuguese, English, and Spanish.

CORE EXPERTISE

Government Relations & Multilateral Engagement

U.S. & Latin American Foreign Policy

Strategic Foresight & Resiliency

Geopolitical & Political Risk Analysis

International Economic Policy, Trade & Investment

Executive Briefing & Policy Communication

INTERNATIONAL POLICY & GOVERNMENT RELATIONS EXPERIENCE

Consultant to the Office of the Secretary-General – Political & Geopolitical Analysis | Association of Caribbean States

Port of Spain, Trinidad and Tobago | 2025–2026

- Provided geopolitical and strategic policy analysis to the Office of the Secretary-General across a 25-member-state regional organization, assessing political, economic, security, and foreign-policy developments affecting the Greater Caribbean.
- Advised the Secretary-General on political and geopolitical affairs, supported bilateral and multilateral engagement with Member States and external partners, and prepared senior-level strategic materials, including briefings, policy memoranda, declarations, communiqués, circular notes, and memoranda of understanding.
- Led major multilateral initiatives, including conferences in Cartagena and Panama City that convened more than twenty governments, UN agencies, and humanitarian organizations.
- Authored Greater Caribbean 2035, a strategic foresight report supporting the ACS's ten-year planning process and strategic preparedness for geopolitical, economic, and security risks.
- Directed development of Haiti Outlook in collaboration with UN OCHA, translating complex political, humanitarian, and governance trends into policy-relevant analysis for senior stakeholders.

Crisis Analysis Fellow | International Rescue Committee (IRC)

New York, United States | 2022–2023

- Produced country and thematic risk assessments integrating political, economic, governance, and conflict indicators to support organizational planning, resource prioritization, and crisis response.
- Contributed to Emergency Watchlist 2023, the IRC's flagship forward-looking assessment of countries at greatest risk of humanitarian deterioration.
- Translated fast-moving geopolitical and political developments into forward-looking risk assessments used to inform organizational planning and crisis preparedness.

Political Analyst | Institute of Applied Economic Research (IPEA), Brazilian Government

Caracas, Venezuela | 2012–2015

- Produced political, economic, and geopolitical analysis for senior Brazilian government stakeholders, assessing developments in Venezuela and their implications for bilateral relations, economic cooperation, and regional policy.
- Led the design and intergovernmental coordination of a proposed special economic zone involving trade integration, investment promotion, bilateral development cooperation, and blended public-private financing.
- Conducted political-risk and policy analysis on Brazil–Venezuela relations and developed bilateral initiatives aimed at improving cross-border governance, investment, and regional economic integration.
- Co-authored a policy report on the Valles del Tuy special development zone, assessing productive efficiency, institutional design, and development strategy.

LEADERSHIP & ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

Professor of International Relations & Director | Center of Economics and International Relations, Universidade Salvador (UNIFACS)

Brazil | 2017–2021

- Directed a multidisciplinary international affairs center involving more than 100 students across International Relations, Economics, Law, Business, and Journalism.

- Built and supervised policy-oriented initiatives including geopolitical analysis, simulations, publications, training programs, webinars, and public events with senior practitioners and scholars.
- Taught Geopolitics, Foreign Policy Analysis, Brazilian Foreign Policy, Regional Integration, and Comparative Politics.

Teaching Fellow | Eugene Lang College of Liberal Arts, The New School

Research Fellow | Janey Program in Latin American Studies, The New School

New York, United States | 2016-2017

- Instructor of record for an undergraduate political sociology course, with responsibility for syllabus design, lectures, student supervision, and evaluation.
- Organized and hosted high-level public affairs events featuring prominent Latin American political leaders, including former Colombian President and then-UNASUR Secretary-General Ernesto Samper Pizano, former Brazilian President Dilma Rousseff, and then-federal judge Sérgio Moro (coordinated jointly with Columbia University).

Fulbright Scholar-in-Residence | Central Arizona College

Arizona, United States | 2011

- Designed and coordinated an academic exchange partnership between Central Arizona College and the Federal University of Bahia, strengthening institutional ties between the United States and Brazil.

Lecturer of Sociology | Federal University of Bahia

Brazil | 2009-2010

- Developed and coordinated the Caravan of Integration, a nine-country South American initiative supported by Brazil's Ministry of Foreign Affairs and sponsored by Brazilian multinational companies, managing government, academic, and private-sector stakeholders across multiple jurisdictions and producing a documentary and photobook.

EDUCATION

Ph.D., Sociology — The New School for Social Research, New York, 2024 | Dissertation distinction: High Pass

M.Phil., Sociology — The New School for Social Research, New York, 2022

M.A., Sociology — Federal University of Bahia, Brazil, 2012

Certificate, International Relations — Federal University of Bahia, Brazil, 2009

B.A., Sociology — Federal University of Bahia, Brazil, 2007

SELECTED GEOPOLITICAL & POLICY ANALYSIS

- The Trump Corollary and the Strategic Reconfiguration of Latin America and the Caribbean. Lead author. Revista Tempo do Mundo, Institute for Applied Economic Research (IPEA), 2026.
- Greater Caribbean 2035: Navigating Geopolitical Crosscurrents. Chief author. Association of Caribbean States, 2025.
- Haiti Outlook: Current Challenges and Pathways to Recovery. Association of Caribbean States, with UN OCHA, 2026.
- When Illiberalism Unsettles Democracy: Origins, Perils, and Prospects of the Unruly Will of the People. Forthcoming, Routledge, Spring 2027.
- Brazilian Foreign Policy and the Construction of South America. Federal University of Bahia Press, 2015.

SELECTED PUBLIC, CORPORATE & MULTILATERAL ENGAGEMENT

- Invited Panelist, "South-South Cooperation in the Current Global Context," United Nations Office for South-South Cooperation (UNOSSC), Santa Marta, Colombia, May 2026.
- Keynote Speaker, Let's Go Clube do Vinho, Praia do Forte, Bahia, 2026. Delivered a keynote on geopolitics, economic fragmentation, and strategic risk to an audience of more than 100 business leaders and entrepreneurs from across Bahia, translating global political and economic developments into implications for corporate decision-making.
- Political analyst for CNN Brasil and BandNews TV; additional appearances on Al Jazeera, NTN24, and TN Argentina.
- Public writing in O Globo, Public Seminar, and Democracy Seminar.

LANGUAGES

Portuguese (Native) | English (Fluent) | Spanish (Fluent)